WOMAN WINS IN AIRPLANE RACE WITH DEATH

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

He insisted that he was telling the truth, unbelievable as it may seem. Charles Young, 51, Pullman porter whose ancestors came from Africa, insisted in a Los Angeles court that he did not know a prohibition law existed. "If there is such a law, I sure am guilty," Young told the judge. He paid a fine of $15 and said that in the future he would read the newspapers and find out what was going on in the world.

Something or other riled up the decent citizens of Chicago and they are cleaning out the gangsters. Cleaning out—yes—but not jailing them. The gangsters are leaving town. Where next? Running this type of citizen out of a city is not reforming him or curbing his lawlessness.

We have had a few of these gentlemen on the Pacific coast in recent months. Curbing their activities with stiff jail sentences will do nothing to scare them out of town and letting some other community suffer.

Many old timers insist that there never has been a case on record where a shark has been attacked or eaten a man. Now comes a report from Mexico that a shark has been captured which contained some of the bones and clothing of a human being. It would be interesting to hear a verified report on this announcement.

Silly things that clutter up our courts. A San Jose man recently died and left his estate to be divided equally to his widow, daughter and son. The estate included the privilege to buy two "big game" tickets each year. Now the daughter has asked that the court live up to the letter of the will. And if the judge is foolish enough to ponder over the question of the football tickets a great deal of valuable time will be wasted that could be spent on clearing up a crowded court calendar.

Out pet peeve. After sitting through a banquet, when we know the work of the office is piling up, then we rush back, write our story about the event, including short excerpts from the addresses of the evening. It doesn't seem enough that two papers lift our story bodily without giving a credit line, but when one of our worthy contemporaries, who accuses us of all kinds of things picks up some of those same quotations, it's too much—too much.

Gross sales of the J. C. Penny company have gone up 18 per cent during the month January according to a report sent out by the main office of the company. Looks as though the calamity howlers are going to have to get busy if they expect to have us think that we are having terribly hard times.

Looks as though the throne of the King of Spain is getting kind of shaky these days. Maybe if his majesty would get a couple of sound supports for his regime he would not be so uneasy. The clamor for a republic is getting rather strong in Spain.

$1250 Awarded In Auto Damage Suit

MARTINEZ, Feb. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kerrigan of Martinez, were today awarded $1250 for injuries sustained in an automobile collision in Franklin Canyon last August 18.

L. S. Hoy was defendant in the case, which was brought to an abrupt conclusion immediately after the noon recess in Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado's court today.

Two Steamers At Inner Harbor Today

Two steamers are scheduled to arrive at the Richmond inner harbor this morning. They are the Silver Fir, of the General Steamship line, to load oil for India and the Borgestad, of the J. J. Moore line, which will load lumber and oil for Australia.

TODAY WILL BE WARM, FORECAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—(U.P.)—The warmest February sun to beam on northern California in 31 years had hardly settled behind the horizon of the Pacific Ocean tonight when a forecast of thousands who will visit outdoor playgrounds in the region over the week-end had started.

Transportation companies and automobile ferries were prepared for their busiest day of the year Saturday when throngs are expected to flee from the heat of the city to wooded sections.

Warm Today
The United States weather bureau predicted the maximum temperature of 78 that was recorded today would probably be repeated Saturday.

Outdoor swimming pools had crowds that usually do not appear until midsummer. Soda fountains were swamped, their small winter staffs being far behind on orders. This was despite the fact that a cool breeze was constantly coming in from the ocean.

1899 Record
The February record was set in 1899 when the mercury reached 80. The weather bureau thermometers here have ascended to 68 or higher on five days since the first of the month. More than 60 per cent of every day in this period has been with the sun shining and heavy fogs have been all there has been to spoil perfect weather.

BITTER COLD
HITS MIDWEST
CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(U.P.)—Old man winter sent a Valentine greeting to friend and enemy alike in the Midwest tonight, a greeting of bitter cold, festooned in ice and snow.

Clyde Reservoir Slowly Filling

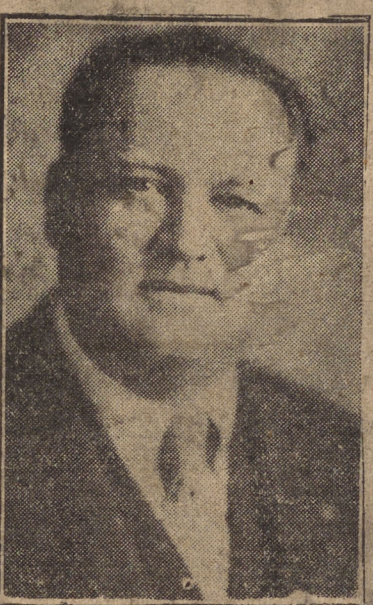

MARTINEZ, Feb. 14.—Water, pumped from the San Joaquin river near Pittsburg into the Clyde reservoir of the California Water Service corporation at the rate of 10,000 gallons daily, is rapidly filling the basin. A billion gallons of water will be stored in the reservoir which was only recently completed.

It was announced today by company officials that 110 days of pumping will suffice to fill the tank. Twenty days have already elapsed.

INTERESTING FIGURES ON TAXES GIVEN

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 14.—Interesting data on the American tax dollar, where it comes from and how it is being spent, was presented by S. S. Knight, newly elected chairman of the Sonoma County Tax Committee at a recent meeting of that body.

Figures as quoted by Knight in his talk follows:
It cost over 12 1/2 billion dollars to rule us here in the United States for the fiscal year 1926-27. This means that taxes took nearly 14 1/2c out of every dollar earned by the American people that year. Compared with 1913-14, when government only cost us about 8 1/2c out of each dollar earned, the increase in 13 years was about 70 per cent.

Average Per Capita Tax
In 1913-14 the average per capita tax paid by each American was about $34.24, by 1926-27 this had risen to $50.00.

LOCAL Y. L. I. CAGERS LOSE

In one of the fastest and best played basketball games of the present Y. L. I. season, Richmond Institute dropped a close contest to Berkeley institute at the Technical High school girls' gymnasium in Oakland last night.

So fast and furious was the playing that the players lost track of the score, but when the final whistle had blown, it was discovered that Richmond had lost by a score of 30-25.

Both Berkeley and Richmond have been near the top of the Y. L. I. league, this being only the second game the locals have lost. At half time the Richmond institute was in the lead by a score of 16-13.

As the third quarter grew older, however, the local girls failed to hold their advantage and the final score on the board was in favor of the Berkeleyans.

The local players are not downcast over their defeat however, and are planning to play just as hard next week and attempt to take the measure of Hanna institute. The game will be played (as usual) in the Tech gymnasium.

Those who made the trip last night, and played on the team included: Helen Maloney, "Sis" Desmond, Irma Chatterton, Louise Novarini, Alice Maloney, Mary Gately, Grace Berk, Agnes Campbell and Helen Gately.

REALTY HEAD SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

William H. Daum, newly installed president of the California Real Estate association, will be an honored guest at the meeting of the Richmond Realty Board tonight at the Hotel Carquinez. Glenn D. Willaman, state secretary, will also be present.

Richmond realtors, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Sanford, chairman of the banquet committee, have been preparing for this meeting for a number of months.

Visitors from Vallejo, Martinez, Concord and other towns are expected to be present.

Tour City
Daum will arrive here this afternoon and will be taken on a tour of the city by Richmond realtors. He will be shown Richmond industries and the site for the new Ford assembly plant on the Richmond inner harbor.

W. J. Richards, Jr., president of the local realty board, will head the tour committee. Other members of the committee are E. B. Bull, M. A. Hays, J. B. Corrie and Ed Burs.

Immediately after the tour Daum will be taken to the Hotel Carquinez where he will register for the night.

Banquet Meeting
At 6:30 the banquet meeting will open. It is expected that more than 200 persons will attend the event. During the dinner there will be a musical program presented by an orchestra. There will be solo numbers by Turner Brashear, local violinist.

Daums talk will be of special interest to Richmond citizens. Mrs. Sanford declared yesterday. He has made a specialty of industries and industrial development. He will probably have a message of much importance to Richmond realtors.

William H. Talk
Willaman is scheduled to speak. The meeting is expected to be one of the largest ever held by the local realtors and a record crowd is expected to be in attendance.

Reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Sanford at her offices, 2221 Macdonald avenue.

Suit Filed In Palmieri Will

OAKLAND, Feb. 14.—UP—Charging Mrs. Adele Crowley and Mrs. Rose Callahan with exercising improper influence to persuade Mrs. Adelina Palmieri, widow of Elisto Palmieri, wealthy merchant, a suit to set aside the will was filed in superior court here today.

Mrs. Annie Cuneo and Stephen Garibaldi, brother and sister of the deceased, failed to receive a share of the $400,000 estate.

Mrs. Crowley and Mrs. Callahan are niece and sister of Mrs. Palmieri.

COOPER WARNS AGAINST FIRE HAZARDS AT 1ST BAPTIST MEET

Clyde Parker was named president of the Men's club of the First Baptist church last night at its meeting in the church hall.

Clarence Dunlap was elected vice-president; Oliver Crigler was named secretary and treasurer and James Craven was elected sergeant at arms.

Fire Chief William P. Cooper was the speaker of the evening. Cooper relayed the Thomas H. Ince and Louis B. Mayer cups that the Richmond fire department won for low fire loss in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Chief Cooper pleaded with the citizens of Richmond to be careful and try to guard against fire. He declared that since July, 1929, there have been 176 fire alarms in Richmond with a fire loss of almost $27,000. Of these figures, $15,000 represents the loss due to careless smokers or careless dropping of matches.

Five fires were caused by defective flues, one by defective wiring; 3 by careless use of gasoline; and one was of incendiary origin. Every time the Richmond fire

STURGIS 'FEE' CHARGED IN PAVINGSCANDAL

ATTEMPT TO GET $5000 CHARGED

OAKLAND, Feb. 14.—Testifying that he had contributed money to a fund to elect William H. Parker, Oakland street commissioner, and that he had paid Commissioner E. K. Sturgis "legal fees" on a paving contract William H. Ford gravel producer of San Francisco, was the star witness before the Alameda county grand jury in the Oakland "paving scandal" today.

Ford told of contributing $400 to a fund to elect Parker, on a promise that "paving specifications would be opened up." He also related how he had paid Sturgis $550 as "legal fees" on a paving contract, and how he refused to give up $5000 more for "expenses incurred in getting a contract."

In Ford's testimony was interwoven a story of delays and harassing developments in the paving of Excelsior avenue from Lakeshore avenue to Park boulevard after he had refused to contribute the additional $5000. Ford was bondsman for the contractors doing the paving.

Ford testified that in 1927 he gave the $400 to Harry Lesser, an Oakland paving contractor. This money, Ford declared was paid on the representation that if Parker were elected, the city specifications requiring only crushed rock, would be changed to allow the use of gravel.

Local Sciots Visit Berkeley

Richmond Pyramid of Sciots headed by J. W. Smiley, toparch, last night attended a meeting of Berkeley Pyramid, where W. H. Parker of Oakland, district deputy pharaoh paid his official visit.

The Richmond pyramid conducted the meeting and furnished the entertainment for the evening. The local Sciots' band was present and assisted.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the Berkeley group.

CARQUINEZ ARRIVALS

Arrivals at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday included C. L. Phillips and A. R. Fairwell, of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company; Mr. and Mrs. Sprague; L. V. Morus, of Oakland; M. Hallen of Idaho and C. D. Brockett and family of Fresno.

NEW STREET LIGHTS TESTED

Richmond's new street lighting system was tested last night, and met with the approval of residents and engineers in charge of the work.

Lights on Nevin avenue, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth streets to Tenth street, were tested and met with the approval of experts. Residents of the Twenty-third street district were quite impressed with the new system, which was installed by the V. G. Electric company. When the lights were turned on at about 8:30, the street was brilliantly lit from Macdonald avenue to the northerly city limits.

E. S. Bjornlund and K. M. Koch, engineers of the General Electric company, were present and witnessed the tests. Both Bjornlund and Koch expressed their approval of the entire system.

With the preliminary tests completed, it remains for the city council to stamp the system with its approval and to form the necessary district to take care of the system.

It is expected that within two months the lights will be turned on for good. On the Twenty-third street system two lights of 600 candlepower each, will burn from dusk until midnight. At 12 o'clock one of the globes in each of the electroluxes will be turned off.

The Nevin avenue work was done by the Globe Electric company. The metal standards for the systems were manufactured by the Santa Fe foundry of Richmond.

'TALK PACT' LOOMS AT NAVY MEET

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(U.P.)—American delegates to the five-power naval conference toyed today with the idea of joining a general "talk pact" as a concession to the French.

France, in her memorandum of naval needs yesterday, said she would welcome a widespread security agreement and intimated she would be willing if such a treaty were signed, to limit her navy below the surprising total of 724,479 tons she asked for.

Though she did not say so, the other powers knew she desired specifically a contract binding the other four naval powers to a guarantee of peace in the Mediterranean. But the United States, for one, was regarded as unlikely to join such an arrangement.

MOTHER OF TOT DEFIES FATHER IN COURT HERE

A Richmond mother faces possible charges of contempt of court unless she turns over to the sister of her divorced husband the custody of an eight-month-old baby today.

The mother is Mrs. Pablo Mendoza of Richmond, who, according to court officials, has refused to release the child.

Mrs. Mendoza married Pablo Mendoza of San Pablo last August, records show. A few months later Mendoza sued for divorce and was granted his decree and custody of the child. The superior court stipulated that the son should be turned over to Mendoza's sister, Mrs. Mary Turpen, of El Cerrito on Feb. 1. This, Mendoza declared, his former wife refused to do.

Two days ago Mrs. Mendoza swore to a warrant for the arrest of Mendoza on a charge that he had failed to provide for the child. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom on Wednesday, Mendoza deposited $250 bail and was freed.

Yesterday he appeared in Judge Alstrom's court, represented by his attorney, Clare D. Horner. Upon recommendation of the district attorney's office the charges against Mendoza were dismissed.

The mother admitted, according to court officials, that she had been ordered to turn the child over to Mrs. Turpen but refused to do so, declaring that no one would take the child away from her.

It was intimated by Mendoza yesterday that he would have his former wife testify to appear in the superior court today or Monday in an effort to have the child turned over to his custody.

SANITY TEST FOR SLAYER

PHOENIX, Feb. 14.—UP—Gov. John C. Phillips indicated tonight during a conference with Ruth Hale, vice president of the National Society for abolition of capital punishment that a sanity hearing would be granted Mrs. Eva Dugan.

Mrs. Dugan is sentenced to hang Feb. 21, for murder of A. J. Mathis of Tucson, Ariz.

Both the present prison physician and Dr. Charles W. Brown, who formerly acted in that capacity have advised Warden Lorenzo Wright that such steps should be taken, the governor said.

Miss Hale asked that the governor intercede in an effort to make certain the hearing, since the bulk of opinion indicated that Mrs. Dugan is insane. The possibility of assertions that Arizona was about to hang a woman suffering fire illness and insanity was pointed out.

Gov. Phillips said he was unable to take direct action and had left the matter to Warden Wright for decision.

Pittsburg Men Fined For Ducks

PITTSBURG, Feb. 14.—Two Pittsburg men were today fined $50 each and given suspended sentences of six months each when they pleaded guilty to charges of shooting ducks out of season on Winters Island.

John Evola and Louis Grillo were arrested by Alvin Hauschildt, a deputy sheriff.

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS

NEW CANCER TREATMENT SOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—UP—death here tonight, arriving from Wenatchee, Wash., with Mrs. Irving Edwins after a flight of less than 12 hours.

Mrs. Edwins, critically ill with cancer of the stomach, was hurried here in the aerial ambulance piloted by Charles A. Rector for treatment from the specialists of Southern Pacific hospital, Dr. Walter B. Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber.

The physicians have discovered an extract from a part of the cortex of the supra-renal gland that they believe may lead to amazing results on malignant growths. They have asked experts of four California colleges to examine the extract carefully as disinterested persons and until the reports are made they will not release the extract to other physicians.

Mrs. Edwins was in such serious condition that her physician would not permit her to make the trip by train, believing it would be fatal. Rector's plane was chartered and left Wenatchee at eight o'clock this morning.

Dusk was falling fast tonight when Rector, after stops at Portland, Ore., and Redding, Calif., brought the craft down on Crissy army field here.

Army officers in charge of the field regarded the landing an emergency and suspended the rule against private aviators using the field. They had announced they would do all in their power to assist, readily agreeing to turn on the landing lights.

From the field Mrs. Edwins was taken to the St. Francis hotel in an ambulance. Accommodations had been arranged there.

RECORD CROWD AT BATHHOUSE

Approximately 500 persons visited the Richmond Municipal bathhouse yesterday and the night when it opened for the spring and summer season after having been closed for several weeks.

During the afternoon more than 60 persons visited the pool while in the evening there were more than 394 paid admissions to enjoy a swim.

With the prospects of fair weather in sight for the next few days, it is expected that Sunday will be a record day at the pool. The building has been renovated and improvements have been made in the dressing rooms.

Last year the pool showed a good profit.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Moores Marshall

Women Are Still Idealists!

WOMEN, as even a convinced feminist must admit, have got down to men's level, these days—Some women have proved that in business they can be as hard and unscrupulous in their methods.

Others have demonstrated that in dissipation they can waste themselves with the same petty vice. Still others have behaved like so many men—that is, like unexcused children. In their estimate of their own talents and accomplishments—Oh, yes, we admit all these things, even if we are too loyal to our sex. To proclaim them, except in moments of rarest columnar candor! Nevertheless, and despite the most realistic criticism to be made Of some—NOT all—women. We still think that we and other women are justified in being idealists.

About feminine fineness, beauty and distinction—In brief, in short, idealists about the Woman Idealist and her power. In the role of Goethe's "eternal feminine, leading us ever upward and on." With all simplicity and seriousness, we ask each thoughtful man To ask himself if, somewhere, in his life or in his memory, There is not at least one woman who seems to him A creature gallant and glamorous and the fulfillment of his dream. Or whatever things are true and beautiful and of good report. Surely, women are justified in being idealists about Woman.

When they see with what garlands men deck the altar of Woman the Idealist. The most eloquent recent expression of men's sense of woman's fineness Is to be found in those new poems by Joseph Auslander, "Letters to Women." Which he has dedicated, "To all women for the sake of one woman." And which so many women will read, marveling at the understanding of a poet's heart.

"Women," he tells us, in his preface, "have always been more audacious in conduct. And more conservative in principle than men. By birthright and by custom, that is their paradoxical privilege. They are the moral barometers of an age."

"Men are blustering little cowards who never grow up. Perhaps Oscar Wilde was in the right when he said, 'The history of women is the history of the worst form of tyranny the world has ever known.' The tyranny of the weak over the strong. It is the only tyranny that lasts."

Of the eight women to whom this poet writes his letters. We may take two—another poet, Emily Dickinson. And a poet's cruel love, the Fanny Brawne of Keats. Two examples to show at once the "eternal feminine's" idealism. And the depths to which, lacking it, she may descend. Here is the idealist Emily, in Mr. Auslander's evocative verses:

"You were aware, oh so aware Of something fiercer than despair: The terrible consuming heat of love. Of what a dead age once called duty: Or what our age of public paint And public love and unrestraint In all things else contains now. As out of date as any vow: As hopelessly old-fashioned as The lovely thing your silence was."

"Gaze," as Hamlet said, "on this picture then on this." This picture of Fanny, the Ariel and the Siren, who is the poet's lover: "And so the golden head, the great Wind-shadowed eyes are yours, my dear."

"They look as splendid on a plate— And you can give your pretty spear, The pale-mouthed prophet loves his fate. The poet is your cavalier— Though from a pot of basil bloom Red leaves that mark an early doom— He loved you, Fanny Brawne—too well."

"Perhaps, . . . You were his Heaven—his Hell. There you are, there are the two feminine types— And one is no more true to-day than the other. To-day, he in every other day, we have."

Senator Hawes Sees Big Shoe Cost From Daily on Hides—Headline. But neither the Senator nor any one else can be so ungallant as to think that "Big Shoe Cost" will affect the American woman!

Every once in a while the principal dish at the family table may well be some variation of the well-known meat loaf. The pleasure of familiarity is sometimes greatly to be desired.

Servings, six to eight. Instead of the veal and salt pork, one-half pound of fresh pork may be used with good results.

The butcher will provide the round steak or the chopped beef, the veal and the salt pork nicely ground. The mixing of the loaf ingredients requires little time or effort then.

Combine the ground beef, veal, salt pork, finely chopped onion, pepper and parsley, the seasonings, the egg and soft breadcrumbs; mix well with the hands until thoroughly blended. Form into a loaf and pack into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a hot oven from three-quarters to one hour.

Unmould and serve on a heated platter garnished with green pepper rings and parsley sprigs. In a sauceboat serve.

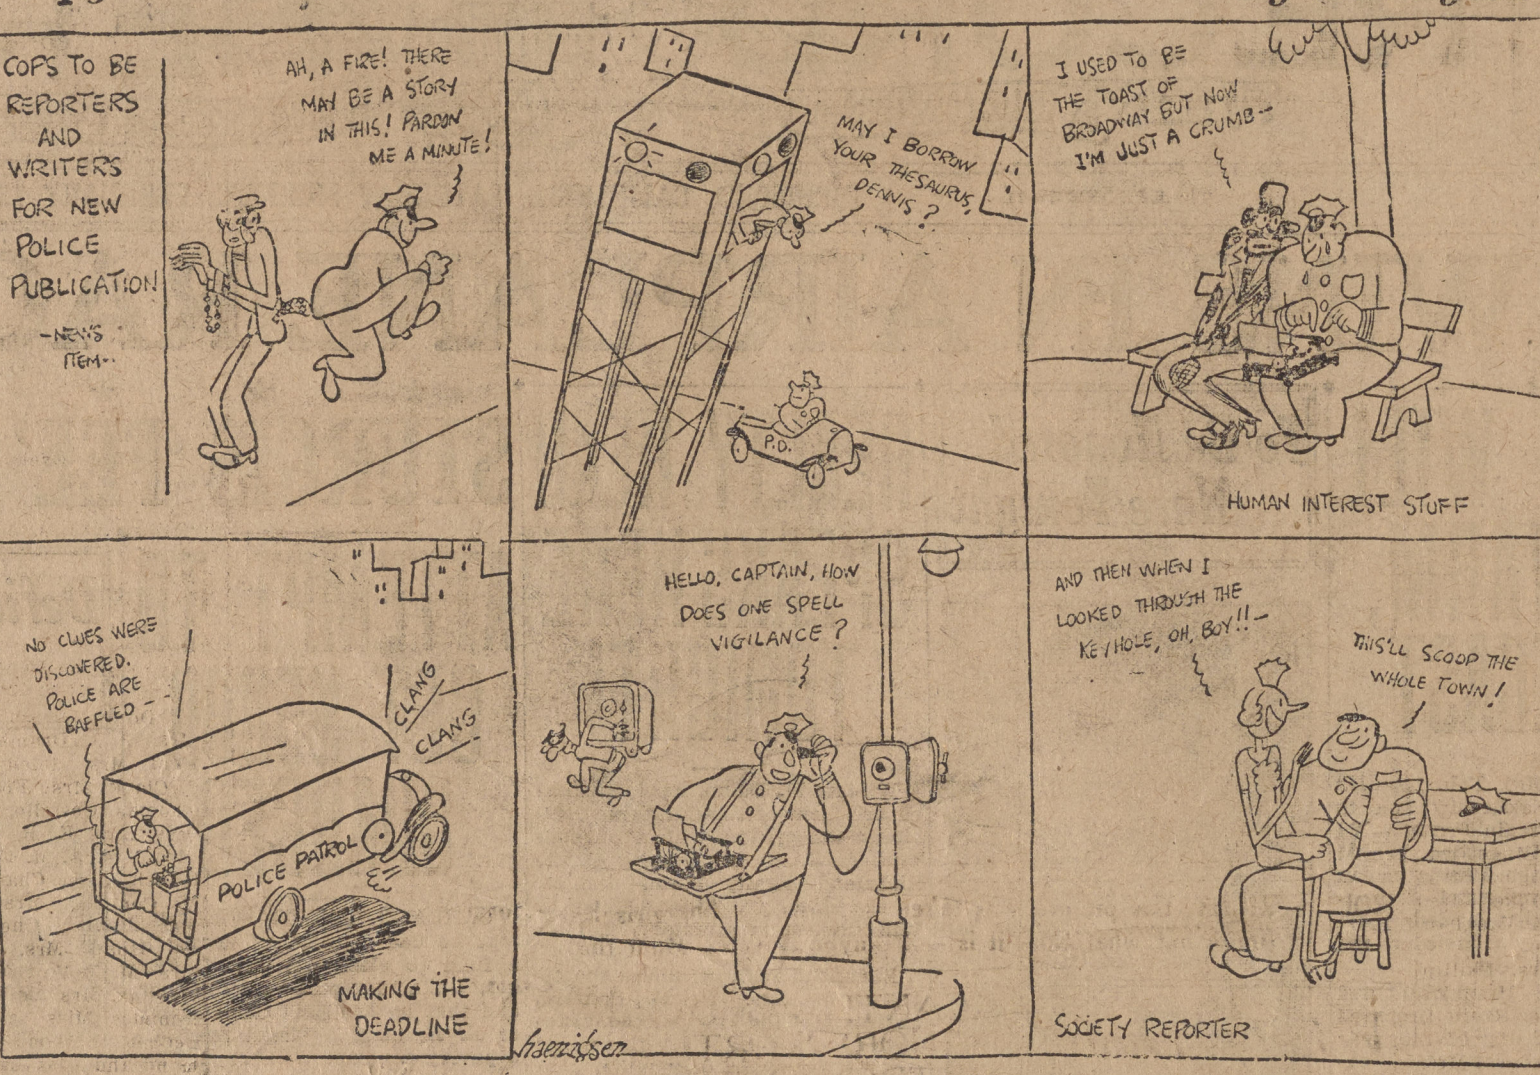

OLIVE SAUCE
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 very small onion
1 tablespoon minced celery tops
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon pepper
1 can tomato diluted to make two cups

4 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
Mince the onion very fine and combine with the celery tops and parsley; cook in the butter gently five minutes; then add the flour and stir a moment; pour in the bouillon (diluted with hot water and juice) in baking pan and stir until it thickens, and is smooth.

Add the chopped olives (or the same amount of sautéed mushrooms) and let boil up. The sauce may be strained before the olives are added, if all suspicion of the seasoning is to be removed.

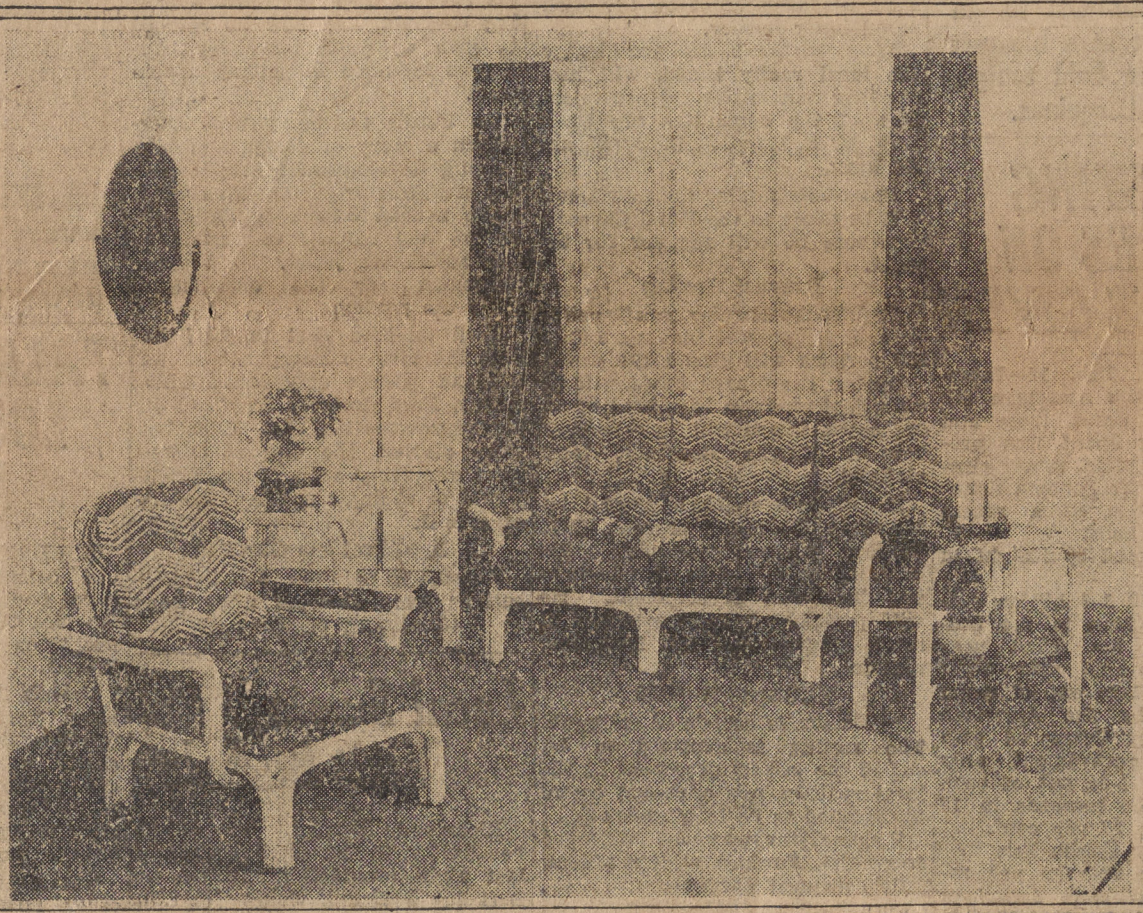

SAVORY MEAT LOAF
1½ pounds chopped beef
¼ pound chopped veal
¼ pound chopped fat salt pork
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1 green pepper, chopped fine
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup soft breadcrumbs

Modernizing the Home—

By Alma Zaiss

Many new designs in rattan and reed furniture are suitable for indoor and outdoor use in both town and country homes. Here the ensembling of upholstery and curtain fabrics in smart new rayon weaves gives an added note of luxury.

Dear Miss Zaiss:

Being a reader of your column I would also like to consult you on a decorating problem. I have enclosed a plan of the room (living room) on which I would like your help. This home is situated on a lake in Northern New Jersey and being just a summer or week-end place, I would not like to go to any great expense in furnishings.

Up to date I only have an easy sofa, one easy chair and a cabinet rug. I am depending on you to help me in adding occasional pieces such as chairs, tables and lamps.

One thing that puzzles me is the rug. If possible I would like to buy one about 10x18 so as to make it appear as one room on entering, as the door from the porch enters directly into the room. Or do you think scatter rugs are better?

The walls are cream-colored, with wall brackets over the mantel and also on the opposite wall. Would you suggest more brackets on any other wall?

Concerning the windows, I am having dotted marquette window curtains, hem front and bottom, and cretonne drapes, saten-lined with stiff shaped valance. I would also like to put a tight-fitted slip cover of the same material on the sofa, if it does not look too much.

Just at present I think that is all that I have to ask and would surely appreciate your advice. Thanking you in advance, I am,

(MISS) G. S.

Matched Fabrics and Rattan Smart for Living Room Scheme

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WE are intrigued by Miss S.'s problem for two reasons which dovetail quite naturally into the Home Modernization program.

First, because her letter gives us a splendid opportunity to contrast a modern ensemble with an older treatment. And, second, because the room furnishes an ideal background for a discussion of the new rayon and willow furniture about which we have wanted to talk for some time.

One of the schemes outlined, therefore, will be keyed to Miss S.'s suggestion of dotted marquette curtains and cretonne; the other based upon an entirely different theme—a modern idea which may please her better and also furnish a new thought for other readers.

Miss S. is correct about the floor covering. Scatter rugs usually seem spotty and restless where there is a large floor space, and a room-size rug in any size; they are perhaps the best of the inexpensive floor coverings and are especially suitable for vacation homes, for they are both reversible and washable.

Next comes the question of curtains, to which much thought should be given, for this room seems to possess very lovely windows.

Miss S. has planned to use dotted marquette glass curtains with lined cretonne draperies and a stiff shaped valance. If she carries out this scheme it would be better to discard the valance, hang the glass curtains from the top of the window frame to the sill and use one wide, full-length, unlined curtain of the cretonne at the outside of each group of windows. Interlined curtains and stiff shaped valances are rather formal for summer homes, and in never window treatments there is a conspicuous absence of both.

The cretonne will be quite all right for slipcovers for the sofa.

Now for the second plan outlining a scheme developed in the modern manner, the newest detail of which is the ensembling of curtain and upholstery fabrics to repeat the design in both sheer and heavy materials. In these big, broad windows and the new rattan furniture recommended for Miss S.'s living room we see a charming opportunity for this treatment, which is as smart as it is individual.

The illustration shows one adaptation of the idea, which has been worked out by the modern artist, Donald Deskey. Here the back cushions of printed linen in eggplant and ecru tones ensemble with the printed pattern of the sheer rayon curtains, while the seat cushions of plain eggplant linen ensemble with the over-curtains of crinkled rayon rep.

The same artist has designed similar ensembles in various rayon fabrics, some of which have been waterproofed to make them suitable for indoors as well as for the porch, sunroom or garden. With one wicker set he has used a soft, rich brown for the plain outer drapes and seat cushions, and a contrasting plaid motif in tan and green rayon for both upholstery and sheer window fabrics. With a set of willow furniture he used a smart black ground and a gay contrasting plaid in gray and red. The silky sheen of these fabrics gives them a quite luxurious appearance for living room purposes, while the lacquered treatment of those which are waterproofed suits them for hard wear and weather when used out of doors. And, following this double-purpose idea, late designs in rattan and reed furniture also show a more sophisticated tendency, which caties them to pose as living room pieces in all but formal rooms.

The diagram of arrangement shows the new pieces suggested for this long living room. The most important point to be considered in arrangement is a grouping that will break the extreme length of the room. This has been achieved by using the old sofa in a crosswise position before the fireplace, a desk placed at right angles to the windows at the left of the entrance, and a second sofa group before the end window.

This each end of the room becomes a complete unit, comfortably arranged for entertainment, and the room as a whole is also unified as one views it from the entrance. In this plan it would seem that every weekend activity has been provided for. There are plenty of end tables and lamps for reading at night; a nice group about the stone fireplace; an equally pleasant one about the windows; a desk for the correspondents of the house party, and, within, plenty of floor space in which to set up several tables for bridge.

On the question of fabrics, if Miss S. prefers her suggested marquette, she may have cretonne over-curtains; a cretonne slip for the old sofa and a plain one for the easy chair; plain seat cushions and cretonne back cushions for the new rattan furniture; a painted desk and cabinet with shelves to hold bright pottery and interesting objects, magazines, games and the like.

If the modern scheme is used, the same general procedure may be followed. Let the sheer curtains be of their printed medium fabric, over-curtains plain; the old sofa slip covered in printed fabric matching the design of the sheer curtains; a cretonne chair slip covered in the plain material; seats of the rattan furniture plain; back cushions in the figured fabric. The desk appearance for living room purposes, while the lacquered treatment of those which are waterproofed suits them for hard wear and weather when used out of doors. And, following this double-purpose idea, late designs in rattan and reed furniture also show a more sophisticated tendency, which caties them to pose as living room pieces in all but formal rooms.

The diagram of arrangement shows the new pieces suggested for this long living room. The most important point to be considered in arrangement is a grouping that will break the extreme length of the room. This has been achieved by using the old sofa in a crosswise position before the fireplace, a desk placed at right angles to the windows at the left of the entrance, and a second sofa group before the end window.

This each end of the room becomes a complete unit, comfortably arranged for entertainment, and the room as a whole is also unified as one views it from the entrance. In this plan it would seem that every weekend activity has been provided for. There are plenty of end tables and lamps for reading at night; a nice group about the stone fireplace; an equally pleasant one about the windows; a desk for the correspondents of the house party, and, within, plenty of floor space in which to set up several tables for bridge.

How to Reduce the Risks

DID you know that housework is a dangerous employment? That is the opinion of several large insurance companies and this is based on statistics.

There show that out of 85,000 deaths due to accident in the United States during 1927 between 20,000 and 25,000 occurred in homes. Housewives' risks have been placed under the head of hazardous occupations and it is not easy for a housewife to secure accident insurance.

The large majority of accidents in the home are due to carelessness, negligence or thoughtlessness. Rugs, for instance, are not weighted to prevent slipping. A defective step may be the cause of stumbling and sustaining a fracture.

Do you stand on the rocker to reach high? Of course you can balance it, but there may be just one time when you get on it. Is there a broken or loose caster on any chair?

These are only a few of the dangers that have put housekeeping on the list of hazardous risks.

A rip in the hem of the housedress has caused many a fall downstairs, and sometimes this is fatal.

Try steps are to blame for many a broken rib, and it takes only a few minutes to scatter ashes. A scrub pail left standing where used has caused fractured hips in older women. A housewife stumbled over a dispan left on the stairs. She broke her hip and doctors say she will never walk again.

Do you always make sure the step-ladder is safely extended before you get on it? Is there a broken or loose caster on any chair?

These are only a few of the dangers that have put housekeeping on the list of hazardous risks.

Oh, Go to Bed

"WHAT is a bootlegger, dad?"

"A bootlegger! What do you know about bootleggers?"

"Nothing. What is a bootlegger?"

"A bootlegger is a person who supplies other persons with illicit alcoholic beverages."

"What's illicit?"

"Unlawful."

"Why do they call such a person a bootlegger?"

"Because years ago when it was unlawful to sell alcoholic beverages to the Indians, men who were in that business slipped the bottles down their bootlegs."

"Do you know any bootleggers?"

"Certainly, not. I don't associate with such people."

"Well, dad, there's a man out in the kitchen who wants to see you, and he says he is your bootlegger."

"Oh, go to bed!"

When You Go Marketing Try the breast bone of the chicken. It is so thin and flexible the chicken is young, but make sure the skin on the legs is smooth and the skin under the wing can be easily broken.

To be painted a color harmonizing with the scheme; the cabinet to be a modern stepped up piece with a contrasting lining for the shelf portions; pottery and objects of art to be modern pieces carefully chosen for their color contrast and harmony with the general scheme.

Miss S.'s cretonne scheme will be friendly and homelike and quite satisfying, we are sure. On the other hand, there is this to be said for the modern scheme: If it is carried out in ensemble fashion with the new fabrics, which are relatively inexpensive the result will be a complete change for the week-end mood and one which seems most luxurious because of its up-to-dateness.

THE LIFE OF PEGGY JOYCE

(Condensed, but not cut-rated)

I WAS born in Virginia some years ago, but not too many. My tastes were simple at the time. It wasn't until I was seventeen years old I knew the difference between artichokes and anchovies.

Early in life I fell in love with David Albert Patrick George Aloysius Henry Thompson. Michael William Frederick Windsor, who is called Prince of Wales for short. I realized I could never marry him, but determined I could at least have as many names. At present I am Margaret Peggy Upton Hopkins Sherman Joyce Morner, with a couple of husbands to go. I'll catch up with His Royal Highness yet.

I entertained no thoughts of marriage till I was ten or eleven years old, but I did have a passion for jewelry. I decided if I ate enough oysters on the half shell I might find enough pearls to make a necklace. I devoted myself to this ambition, but got pneumonia poisoning eating oysters in the month of June. While recovering I decided there are other methods of obtaining pearls besides eating oysters just as there is more than one way of skinning a cat and getting a Hudson seal coat.

About this time I read in the paper that Harvard was endowed for $81,000,000. I wrote a scented note to Mr. John Harvard, but learned he died in 1647. For a while I was discouraged and thought of running an ad in the Matrimonial News.

One day De Wolf Hopper came to town with his show and the press notice stated he had been married more than half a dozen times. This gave me inspiration, so I learned "Casy at the Bar" by heart and recited it every time at parties, socials, etc., but it did not seem to do any good. Sex Appeal was then selling at 3½¢ and wasn't even listed.

I shortly grew to young womanhood and I confess I got married the first time just to see Niagara Falls. Later I became a chorus girl, but don't think I was just beautiful and dumb. You have heard the story about the chorus girl who didn't want a book for Christmas because she already had one book. Well, I was different. I always had TWO books in my dressing room—by Dun and Bradstreet.

After joining a Ziegfeld show it was comparatively simple. By 1915 so many men threw themselves at my feet I had to dress up like a goal tender to protect my insteps.

After I'd been married a couple of times more I decided that was woman's real vocation. Then the King of Marimba came into my life. I met him at Biarritz and he offered to give me six perfectly matched bathtubs of his country as a memento. I accepted and traded them in for a milk coat.

By now I had developed a yearning for travel. I loved to go to New York, Havana, Palm Beach, Hollywood, Paris, London and Vienna. If I had been born a boy I'd have been swell material for the Notre Dame football team.

One day in 1922 I took an inventory and found I had 216 yards of pearls. If I wound them all around my throat and body at one time I would look like the Michelin tire man. The following spring I had to tire my maid for throwing away a quart of my emeralds. She thought they were a can of green peas.

The next year Lord Duffus proposed to me, but I turned him down because we couldn't spend our honeymoon in the Bank of England. At present I am unengaged.

My ideal husband would be John D. Rockefeller if he only had a little time just to see Niagara Falls. Later I became a chorus girl, but don't think I was just beautiful and dumb. You have heard the story about the chorus girl who didn't want a book for Christmas because she already had one book. Well, I was different. The men saved were Chief Pilot James D. Meyers, Pensacola, Fla., sent to a hospital with first degree burns; Justin Cotter of Painesville, O., who suffered severe burns on one hand, and Louis Paul of Duluth, Minn., who escaped uninjured.

Their seaplane was forced to alight in the water off Waikiki beach when the engine failed. It exploded a moment after the craft struck the water and all three dived overboard.

MANY ENJOY PLAY GIVEN AT SCHOOL

The humorous troubles of an everyday American family were displayed realistically in "Bachelor's Beware," presented last night in the Roosevelt auditorium by the Derby Street players under the auspices of the St. Edmund's Episcopal church.

The action of the three act play took place in the noisy New York apartment of the Hellers, a low-income family. Mother laid plans for daughter, and tried her hardest to attain their consummation, Louise Heller, daughter, finally falls in love with a poor young man. Then mother steps in, and attempts to hasten the expected engagement. Instead, she succeeds in separating the couple by making the young man believe that Louise belongs to a wealthy family, and that he is not quite good enough to enter the Heller family.

At last, through the aid of dad and son, the fiancé of Louise realizes that the Hellers are just ordinary folk, and the couple are reunited among the wrangling that continued throughout the play.

The part of Louise Heller was played admirably by Carol Hanlin. The part of Charles Grant, her lover, was taken by Francis Thompson. The role of Mrs. Heller was occupied by Avery Colton, who directed the entire production.

Harman Jatta made a "hit" in the role of the indolent, young brother, Willie Heller, who was continually being nagged at by his mother, father, and sisters.

Willie finally proved himself a hero by acting as mediator between Louise and Charles.

The father, who was continually harassed by family troubles, was well acted by Robert Zesher.

The party of Mrs. Grant, mother of Charles Grant, was taken by Mae Cotton, while the role of Charles' little brother was played by Gerald Nelson. Miss Calahan, whose party was taken by Phyllis Bosse, aided in creating the embarrassment that furnished laughs and tears during the last act.

During interludes between acts, Lorimer Skidmore of the Skidmore jazz orchestra presented several ukulele selections.

An audience of more than 400 witnessed last night's production at the Roosevelt Junior high auditorium.

CHANNEY FILM RAILWAY EPIC

A little world apart—a roaring rushing little world where men laugh at peril and are fanatically loyal to a set of traditions that few outside their pale realize, is brought to the screen by Lon Chaney in "Thunder." Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's sound synchronized epic of railroad, which will open at the Fox-California theater tomorrow. Less known by the public, perhaps, about railroad men and their traditions than any other calling, as mystery seems always to surround them.

Chaney, working as an engineer on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, enacts his role in the midst of actual railroad men, many of whom appear with him. Intimate "closeups" of the home life of the men of the road are given, alternated with the thrills of wild rides over frozen rails, the perilous floods, and other dramatic detail.

The railroad man, by virtue of his calling and the fact that he is constantly "on the job," mingles little with the rest of the world, and his fanatical loyalty to the road, which makes him almost believe that a man's not a man unless he's a railroad man, makes him almost a different being from the average man of the street. Still, under this he has his joys and his sorrows. And his drama, vividly described, is told in "Thunder," an original by Byron Morgan, directed by William Nigh.

A Fox talking News and College film is also on the program.

R. U. H. S. To Hold Variety Show

1st Presbyterian Group To Present Pageant Tomorrow

"The Purpose of the Church" a pageant will be given at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night.

Mrs. J. H. Plate is directing the pageant, which will have a cast of about 50 persons. Leota Sloan will give the prologue "The Woman of Samaria." The pageant depicts the ministrations of the church to the sick and the poor.

The services will be opened by J. A. Long, who will read the scripture. T. G. Brashear will deliver a violin prelude, and its pageant will be interspersed with quartette music sung by Mrs. June Swift Smith, Mrs. Clyde Wilson, J. H. Plate and S. A. Marshall.

The church will be represented by Mrs. Carl Alexander. Leaders of each group who come to her ministrations will be: Miss Sara Spires and Mrs. Robert Weeks, young people's councilors; Mrs. W. P. Drumme and Mrs. James Brackett, teaching of children's groups; Mrs. H. C. Bowman, lame, deaf and blind; Dr. L. R. Sears, physician; Mrs. C. V. Howell and Mrs. L. R. Sears, nurses; Mrs. Henry Engleking and Mrs. Ray Jones, two missionaries ministering to other nations.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

STURGIS 'FEE' IN SCANDAL CHARGED

her election, but such large gravel was named that only a 10 percent could be used in it.

Ford alleges that when he tested, and accused Lesser "breaking into the paving" road, Lesser told him, "You won't any of the paving if you take attitude."

Frank Hatch told Ford, according to the testimony, that he had declared he left the use of the gravel up to the engineer of the streets department, and engineer doesn't want gravel.

To the grand jury today, testified that he wanted to "break into the paving business in land, even if it costs money."

$483 Fee Charged
Contractors on the Excelsior avenue paving job, Ford testified, paid Commissioner Sturgis a fee of $483 for "studying the test of the contract," when it was before Mayor John L. Davis.

Sturgis, according to Ford, received $50 from the contractor for drawing a contract between the company and E. L. Elmer for what purpose Ford decided he did not know.

After John G. Garbutt, representative of a patent paving firm, had been paid royalties of $5000 on Excelsior avenue job, Garbutt demanded more, Ford told the grand jury.

Ford quotes Garbutt as saying, "You'd be surprised what I had to do to get this contract."

Payment Suggested
Ford said he refused to pay, within a few days Commissioner Sturgis appeared in Ford's San Francisco office and, according to the testimony, suggested a compromise and pay some of the $5000 demands, according to Ford, Sturgis declined that Garbutt was there.

Ford told the jury that he refused to pay.

Garbutt, then threatened to take away the patent paving machine, Ford said, Ford stated that on Jan. 28, 1928 he went to see Park, and that Garbutt was there.

Ford said that Garbutt greeted him with considerable warmth, and a program was presented to illustrate it.

The next day, according to the testimony, the tamping machines were taken away just as they were to be used on a stretch of concrete.

Byron Coleman of San Francisco, Ford's attorney was appealed to and went to see Sturgis, according to Ford.

$5000 Demanded
Ford declared that Garbutt was with Sturgis and demanded $5000. Ford said that Coleman was unsuccessful in gaining anything from Sturgis or Garbutt.

Ford testified that, thereafter, the Excelsior paving was held up frequently, with workmen being allowed to tear up only a small part of the old paving at a time.

He went on to relate to the jury how the testing laboratory of the Streets department had served notice that if one piece of crushed rock was found to be bad, the paving would be rejected and the work would have to be done all over.

If the patent paving royalty had not been paid, Ford asserted, an inch more of concrete could have been laid. He declared that Oakland was the only city in California having gravel, and that, that material was approved by the state highway association.

Champion Of U. S. Wives

Manystunning Ensembles in Picture

The dainty and charming Marie Saxon of musical comedy fame makes her motion picture debut in "The Broadway Hoofers," the all-talking musical romance, scheduled to play at the Fox-California theater today. Known all along the "Gay White Way" as a criterion for the last word in fashion dictates, Marie brings to this musical romance a great deal of smartness through a diversified and extremely attractive wardrobe.

Her outfits range from a simple sport dress fashioned along the lines of a sailor uniform to elaborate evening ensembles of sequins and tulle. Each creation is youthful, attractive and modish. Her characterization calls for her to appear for the major part in formal clothes. Her selection would set any woman's heart aflame. Outstanding among these formal frocks is a black chiffon combined with silver cloth. The pearl and crystal embroidered silver cloth bodice is attached to a flesh chiffon foundation. Low in the front and beginning at the waist molding to the hips in the back, it creates the illusion of a bare back. Black chiffon flowers trail from the left shoulder to the waist at which point they are fastened to the silver cloth. The effect is both novel and effective. The black chiffon skirt falls in uneven points to ankle length in the back and sides and knee-length in the front.

In addition to the smart and sprightly Marie, "The Broadway Hoofers" boasts of such names as Jack Egan, Louise Fazenda, Ernest Hilliard, Howard Hickman and Gertrude Short. George Archambault directed.

An added attraction is "Around the World with the Graf Zeppelin" a thrilling adventure.

About the Use of Natural Gas

Natural Gas Will Reach Your Home on or About the Date Indicated Below*

On account of the greater heat content in natural gas, every gas appliance must be adjusted in order that you may use this new fuel at its greatest efficiency.

The Company has a corps of one hundred and fifty trained experts to adjust your gas burning appliances and advise you of the proper care and use of all gas consuming equipment. One of these gas utilization men, carrying proper credentials, will call on you as soon as possible after the new gas is in the mains in your neighborhood. He will make minor adjustments to your gas burning equipment without cost.

We will make these necessary adjustments as promptly and with as little inconvenience to you as possible. Your cooperation during this period will aid materially and enable us to permit you to take advantage of Natural Gas with its greater heat content.

Yours very truly,

L. H. NEWBERT.

Division Manager.

PLEASE READ THESE INSTRUCTIONS CAREFULLY

Until your gas appliances have been adjusted for natural gas, we suggest that you exercise due care in the use of your gas water heater, your gas room, or fire place, heater, or the oven on your gas range.

Adjustments you may make pending the arrival of Company's utilization man:

The gas valve and air shutter should, if possible, be adjusted so that the gas burns a blue flame with purple edges.

Gas Ranges

Open or closed top range. Open the air mixer and turn on the valve so that the flame does not touch the bottom of the utensil or the lids on closed top range.

Oven Burners

Open the air shutter and turn on the valve enough to produce a flame without any or as little yellow as possible.

Tank Water Heaters

Open the air mixer, turn on the valve so that the flame does not reach past the bottom ring of water coil.

Adjustable Orifices

To reduce the flow of gas, turn the hexagonal nut on the end of gas cock to the left.

Automatic Equipment

Important—Pending the arrival of our utilization man, all Automatic gas burning equipment should not be operated. Turn the gas valve off entirely.

Automatic Water Heaters

(Instantaneous and Storage Type)

This type of appliance necessitates special adjustment. If it is impossible for you to turn this appliance off until our man arrives, phone your regular water heater agency, or our local office.

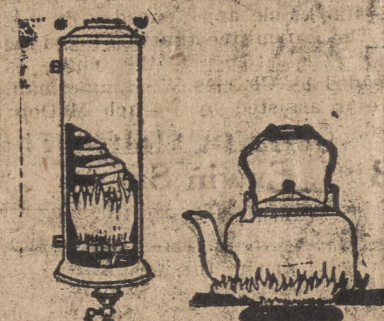

Gas Furnaces, Radiantfires, Gas Steam Boiler and Heating Equipment

All of this type of equipment requires special attention, and if you must use your gas heating appliance before our regular gas utilization man reaches you, which should be within a few days, please phone your regular water heater agency or our local office.

CORRECT

(1) Sketch showing gas flame at proper height under utensil.

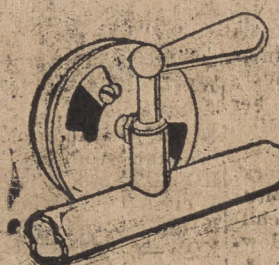

INCORRECT

(2) Another sketch showing incorrect height, flames coming up around sides.

1—Before Adjusting See That the Burners Are Clean

The top burners of your gas range may be cleaned by lifting them out and boiling them in a strong solution made by dissolving washing soda or lye in water. Wrinse thoroughly with clean water and dry. If holes or ports of the burner are closed from food boiling over or dust or lint being drawn in through the air mixer, the gas can not burn properly.

2—Adjust the Air Shutter

Loosen the set screw that holds the air shutter in place. Turn gas valve on, light gas and then open air shutter until the flame burns with blue cone with purple edges. Tighten the set screw to hold the air shutter in proper position.

NATURAL GAS
WILL BE TURNED INTO RICHMOND MAINS
Monday, Feb. 17th

The advent of natural gas now makes possible economical heating. Prepare now to take advantage of this ideal fuel with Automatic, efficient heating equipment that is clean, convenient and healthful.

To assist our consumers in solving their heating problem, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has a special staff of heating specialists who will be glad to submit their recommendations for your consideration.

LOCAL CAGERS BREAK EVEN IN GAMES

A last minute rally by the Richmond Union high school Varsity cagers failed to prevent the San Rafael military academy quintet from defeating them 16 to 14 last night in the local high school gym.

The Richmond Union high school B's conquered the cadets by a score of 24 to 12.

The local varsity boys were on top of the pile throughout the first half. The score at half time was 7 to 4 for the Richmondites.

The score narrowed down to 11 to 10 for the locals by the end of the third period. A successful attack in the last quarter sent the San Rafael athletes into a 15 to 11 lead. Richmond then rushed San Rafael territory in an attempt to tie or win the contest before the final whistle.

Richmond's hopes rose when Scarcello landed a perfect shot in the San Rafael basket in the last minute of play. However, the final whistle blew before the locals could even up the score, which seemed very likely during the last minute of the contest.

The first half of the B contest was fairly even, and ended with the Richmondites in the lead of a 12 to 9 score. Richmond had things its own way during the last two quarters.

The Richmond Union high school varsity and B cagers will again see action when they tangle with the Richmond Union high school alumni squads Friday night at the high school gymnasium. A girls' game between the high school and its alumni will also take place the same evening.

DEMPSEY MAY BATTLE BIG CARNERA

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey has discussed coming back to the ring to meet Primo Carnera, Leon See, manager of the giant Italian heavyweight, said here today.

"Dempsey mentioned a fight with Carnera when we were in New York about three weeks ago," See said. "We have been offered a match in New York Oct. 12, and Carnera might fight Dempsey then, but I don't know."

There was no definite offer made, said See, but he quoted Dempsey as saying such a bout would be the "greatest attraction in the history of boxing."

See said he told Dempsey Carnera would meet him for the world heavyweight championship. Three more bouts have been arranged for Carnera against opponents of doubtful pugilistic ability after tonight's bout here as follows: Feb. 17 at Oklahoma City, Carnera vs. "Man Mountain" Erickson.

Feb. 21 at New Orleans, Carnera vs. Jack McAuliffe.

March 3 at Philadelphia, Carnera vs. Ace Clark, 240 pound negro.

Ancient Palm Found Buried In Small Clay

CHICAGO, Feb. 14—(U.P.)—The reconstruction of a date palm tree 5000 years old from 3 little pieces of clay was announced by the Field Museum as a result of its joint expedition to Mesopotamia with Oxford University. They had been dug up in the ruins of the ancient city of Kish where the expedition is conducting archaeological excavations at the present time.

The identification of the clay as parts of the stem of a date palm was made by Prof. Samuel J. Record of Yale university's forestry school who is the museum's expert in wood technology. Prof. Record said of the wood:

"All trace of the consistency of wood has disappeared, but the clay model has preserved the structure with fidelity to the minutest detail, which enabled me to identify them as from a date palm. Phoenix dactylifera. An appropriate name, Phoenix, for, like the mythical bird which sprang alive from its own ashes, it springs into being after lying dead for 50 centuries."

CARNERA WINS IN FIRST ROUND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14—Primo Carnera, giantly Italian heavyweight, won his fifth fight in this country tonight, knocking out the Jim Sigman of Boston in one minute 35 seconds of the first round.

Outweighing his opponent by more than 50 pounds the Venetian showman lost no time in ending the encounter.

Sigman, claimant of the heavyweight championship of the American navy failed to land a telling blow and succumbed to the punches of the Italian as soon as Carnera settled down to his work.

Shot through the ropes by a tremendous right hand punch, Sigman landed on his stomach and was counted out by the referee.

In less than 11 minutes of actual fighting, Carnera has gained for himself and his board of managers nearly $70,000 in this country.

FRENCH TAX LEVY HIGHEST

PARIS, Feb. 14—(U.P.)—In comparison with the total national revenue of the various nations, France extracts the heaviest percentage in federal taxes, according to statistics of the National Federation of French Taxpayers.

These figures show that in proportion to her national revenue, France takes 22 per cent for national taxes, which is heavier than any great power. Great Britain is second, collecting approximately one-fifth of her country's total revenue. Germany, according to the Federation, takes 18 per cent, while the United States collects 10 per cent.

Another astounding revelation of the study is that France pays 32 per cent to the Government for the transport of merchandise, a tax which does not exist either in Great Britain or the United States. Spain, however, takes 25 per cent in the same manner. Germany 16 per cent, and Belgium 2 per cent.

France also takes a heavy percentage of inherited money. On the inheritance of $62,000 or over the Government takes 16 per cent, England 7 per cent, Germany 6 per cent, Belgium 5 per cent.

120 Pound Y Cager Beat El Cerritos

The 120 pound Y. M. C. A. quintet handed a 25 to 24 defeat to the El Cerrito Junior Athletic club athletes last night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Through some miscalculations in arranging the schedule, only half of the 120 pound Y. M. C. A. Star team of Richmond defeated squad were on hand. However, the breach was filled by several members of other Y. M. C. A. cage teams.

Several extra periods were required to break a tie in last night's contest, and a final rush netted a win for the semi-120 pound outfit.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. lineup were: Collins, Faust, forwards; Flynn, center; McKune, Stokes, guards; substitutes, Bertone, guard.

The El Cerritos who played last night were: C. Matteri, Smith, forwards; Klatt, center; Sam Miguel, J. Matteri, guard.

Mickey Walker Beats Lomski

DETROIT, Feb. 14—(U.P.)—Left hand punches to the head and a smashing right which frequently found its mark under the heart to Mickey Walker to Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen Assassin, in ten fast rounds.

Walker, the veteran middleweight champion, dodged around Lomski's left and made a success of his first start in his campaign to win the light heavyweight title left vacant by Tommy Loughran.

Walker tonight looked like the Mickey of three years ago. He punched Lomski almost at will.

National Open Net Play Seen

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14—(U.P.)—A national open tennis tournament, permitting professionals to compete with amateurs, probably will be a reality in time. It was indicated tonight by delegates to the 49th annual meeting here tomorrow of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Tennis leaders here believed plans for the proposed tourney would be thrashed out and that final action probably would be taken at a meeting of the International Tennis association in Paris, March 21.

National and major tournament sites will be awarded, an official ranking of American players given out, officials for the ensuing season elected and other business of the association discussed when the session gets under way.

Police Enforce Street Car Passing Rule

Rigid enforcement of the provisions of the California Vehicle Act governing the passing of standing street cars is in progress throughout California, according to an announcement today from the California committee on public safety.

Since Feb. 1, the committee, in cooperation with the California Highway patrol and the chiefs of police of sixty-five major cities, has been carrying on a campaign of education.

The slogan of the committee, which is being carried on street cars and busses throughout the state is, "Let Street Cars Unload—Don't Hog the Road."

Under the state law motorists are required to stop their vehicles to the rear of a standing street car where no safety zone exists or where traffic is controlled by an officer or automatic signal until passengers have reached a point of safety.

LOCAL CAGERS WIN FROM PETALUMA

The Garfinkles All-Star basketball squad and the 145 pound All of the 120 pound Y. M. C. A. Star team of Richmond defeated the Petaluma cage squads last night at the Spartan Athletic club in Petaluma.

The local lightweights took their game by a score of 26 to 29 while the unlimiteds won by a score of 24 to 22.

The Garfinkles squad started with a small lead and maintained it throughout the game, in spite of the stiff fight put up by the Egg City laddies.

The local lightweights were trailing at the end of the third quarter. In the middle of the fourth canto they tied the score and then forced to the lead.

Monday night the local Garfinkles squad will meet San Mateo quintet at the high school gymnasium at eight o'clock.

The lineups for the local teams last night were:

Garfinkles—Barbiere, A. Muth, B. Muth, Harry Bonham, Joe Baldwin and Larry Gillan.

145 pounders—Lane, Cornell, Weeks, Flynn, Malin, George Gordon, Walter Gordon and Maloney.

MAXIE WINS CLOSE BOUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(U.P.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light heavyweight contender won a close decision from Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat, in a ten round bout here tonight.

The fight was close all the way but Rosenbloom had a slight edge in the closing round. Hudkins had an advantage at infighting, landing almost three blows to his rivals one in close, but Rosenbloom had an even wider margin at long range.

A crowd of 16,596 paid a net of $49,323 to see the fight.

British Scribe Says U. S. Land Of Wild Parties

ASHFORD, Kent., Feb. 14—(U.P.)—Sir Charles Leggesdon, one of the party of 100 British journalists who visited the United States in 1928, has just published a book about the "land of bad tea and wild parties"—the United States.

He says about drinking as he observed it in the United States: "Pantomonium reigns supreme. At early hours of the morning the yelling in the hotels is fearful. Jugs, bottles, glasses and earthenware of all sorts is hurled out of the windows, especially before college football contests. Hotel corridors are filled with intoxicated young men and women, the latter mostly pretty girls in evening dress, but in such a state that they dance and sing in the manner of a virago."

"Love of the freest kind is said to prevail among the younger people of the better classes, and the same is said of undergraduates, where the two sexes mix freely in the universities. Mad scenes in Chicago and Los Angeles are the result of too much drinking."

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

2946 Morgan Ave. Oakland, Cal. Nov. 19, 1929.

Dear Mr. Fong—
I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach trouble. I was very sick and unable to eat. I had a sharp, stabbing pain in the lower right side of my abdomen.

The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if it were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat, was returned to the mouth.

This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.

By good fortune, I came into contact with a man who had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my Liver. My digestion is good. The old ailment has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you.

Wishing you unbounded success, and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am

Very cordially yours,
CYRIL MAW.

"GENERAL CRACK"

BY GEORGE PREEDY

Copyright 1929 by Dodd Mead & Co., Inc.
The Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring John Barrymore, is based on this novel.

SYNOPSIS

General Crack, soldier of fortune, revolts against Emperor Leopold, the instant after fulfilling his obligation of having him crowned emperor. The Empire is laid waste by Crack's irresistible army. Crack is overthrown himself on Leopold, who compromised his girl-wife, the lovely Princess Eleanora. Crack, the instant after marrying Eleanora, had to leave her for the campaign. He captures the Archduchess, Leopold's sister, but cannot go through with his plan of compromising her, in revenge. Then Leopold falls into his hands.

"You do well to boast now," replied Leopold, bitterly, "when I am disgraced before you."

"I speak as a matter of curiosity, not of arrogance," smiled Christian. "Do you think that I am concerned to flourish now? I say I could have bested you, or any other at any task or any game; ay, with any woman either—given fair play, in Monseigneur, given fair play. It is no dishonor to lose when one plays with a cheat."

"You prove yourself ignoble by these insults."

"No," answered Christian, quietly, "not ignoble—merely a comment. What would you, Monseigneur, call

And before that dawn, while they were yet all too amazed, agitated, bewildered and overcome to do much in the way of protest or agreement, Christian had kept his word. He had gathered together his own train of Uhlans and Cuirassiers, men who had been in during all his fortunes, and he had left the bulk of the army encamped about the forests and the swamps, and ridden away northwards. Before he had left, he had spoken to Hensdorff, going to the bedside of the old man in the middle of the night.

He had told him that his former master, Leopold of Bavaria, was asleep in this very house, exhausted asleep.

"When he awakes," added Christian, "I think he will hear himself hailed Emperor again. These men, have no one else to whom to turn, and now I have laid down the command, they must have some one to take it up. You will choose, in well that affair, my dear Count; you are both adroit and tactful." He remarked, standing there holding back the plain bed curtains of the modest bed, lit only by the candle he himself carried.

"See also to the marriage, my dear Count—the marriage with Princess Eleanora."

Hensdorff, old and smitten, cried out, asking what he meant, but Christian said:

"You will understand without any words of mine. Good-bye, my dear Count; and thank you for your services."

Count Hensdorff, in terror, asked him where he went, and he replied to him, as he had replied to the others:

"I go to Kurland, my native place."

"You fling away the whole campaign?" cried Hensdorff, bewildered.

"The whole campaign!" repeated Christian, "I fling away the whole war, the whole Empire! The diadem itself, perhaps, I will help Leopold to pick them up."

He stared up at the young man as if at something supernatural.

"You are not leaving now," he muttered. "You will wait till the morning," and his old voice took on a pleading note. "You will not ride away like this, on this sudden resolution?"

Christian said: "I go at once."

Then he added the last words that Hensdorff expected to hear him say. "Give my duty and salutations to the Archduchess when you see her next, and find her, my dear Count, a good husband."

"You shall not go like this," he protested. "I must come, too, wherever you go—"

"Nay, your loyalty is to the House of Bavaria and the Elector is in the camp—he will need you—but I, no one."

Christian spoke differently and as if his mind was not on the moment; he put out his hand with an easy courtesy to stay the old man.

"No, my dear Count, consider your age and infirmities—neither of which could endure such an expedition as I propose."

"Where are you going?" demanded Hensdorff, resolutely.

"To Kurland."

"Good God—and what do you think you will get in Kurland?"

"All I can now get anywhere—a little space."

"A grave," thought Hensdorff, but he did not say the word, only: "How many do you take with you?"

"My own household troops."

The old man bowed his head; he seemed even older without his peruke, the candlelight gleaming through his fine, thin white hair.

"How have you dealt with Leopold?" he asked.

"I commanded myself," replied Christian. "Yes, I did it, Hensdorff, I think I have never done a more difficult thing and I have been always fond of difficult things—"

"But—your revenge?"

"There is no such thing as revenge," said the young man, carelessly, then he laughed, the candle flame fluted at his breath; he seemed really amused. "Did I not say that I would never live to thirty without an establishment?"

He turned away, but Hensdorff had caught his hand.

"I must come, too. You'll be damned lonely in Kurland and I damned lonely here—I might make you Duke in good earnest."

"Leaving your Caesar?"

"Curse Leopold," replied the minister, angrily. "I'm your man and you know it—"

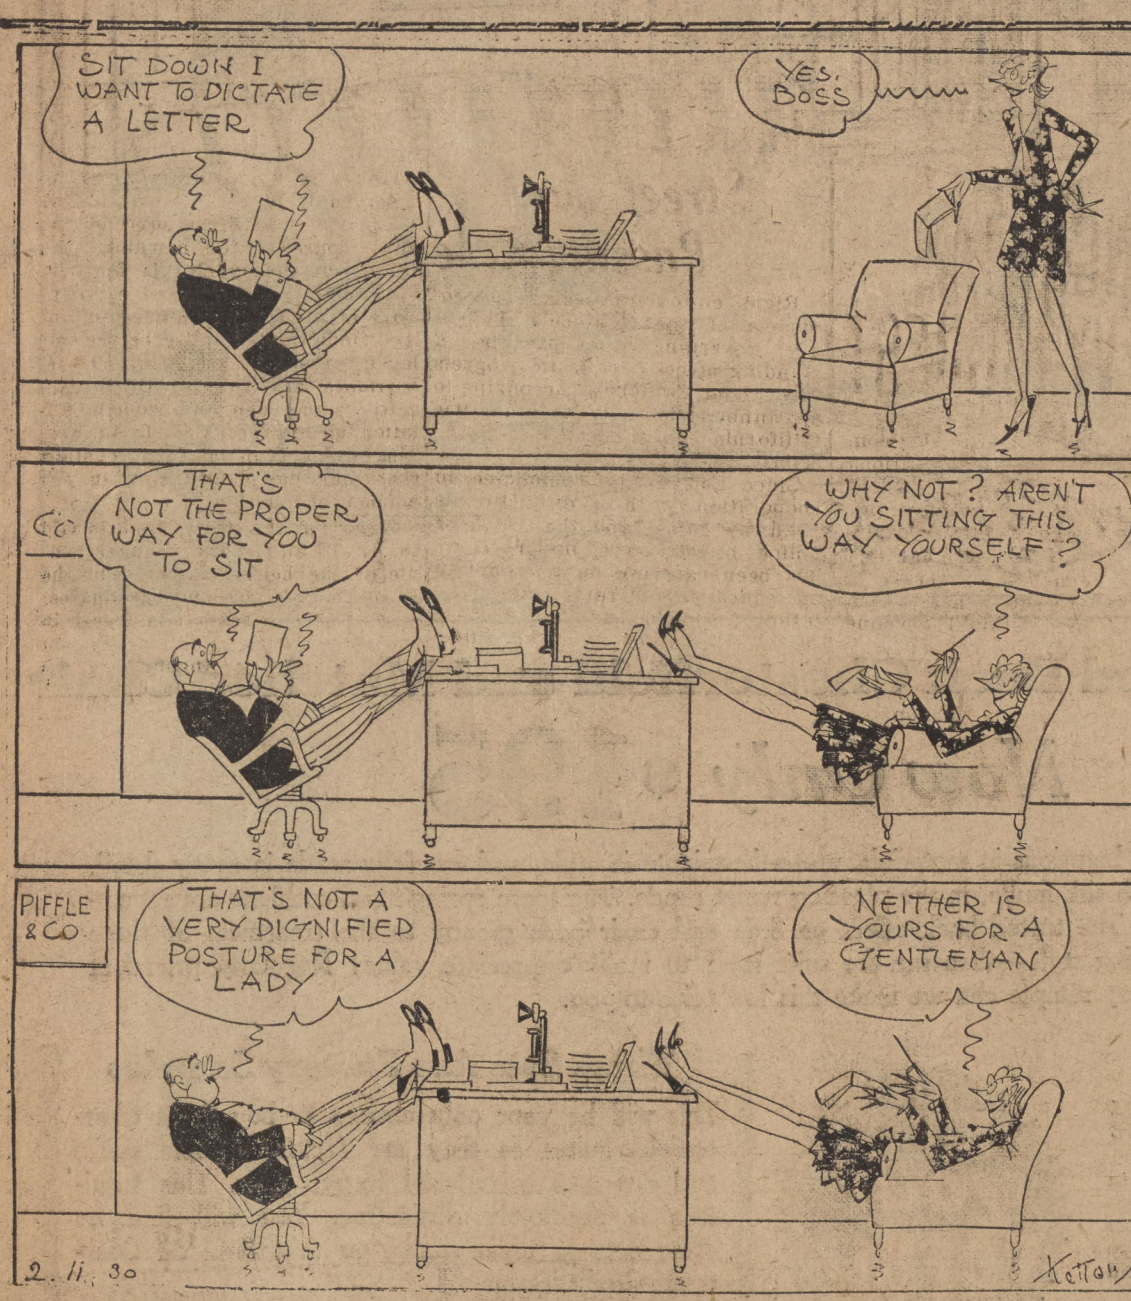

Christian, glancing at him curiously, remarked:

"How you disliked me once. Do you recall how we met in Ottenheim, you were scarcely civil—it's odd, you know, my dear Count, for I have not changed—"

"I'm coming with you," repeated Hensdorff, obstinately, but Christian, smiling, shook his head and turned away. Hensdorff saw the little candlelight dimish, heard the steady footfall disappearing, heard the door close, and cried out childishly: "Wait for me—"

HEAT RECORD FOR MONTH BROKEN

Decorated liberally with snow. Appropriately enough, winter's Valentine was heart-shaped. It spread from the Rocky mountains almost to the Alleghenies and then tapered to a point in the Mississippi river valley.

Below Zero
The frigid blasts swept down from the Canadian sub-Arctic where temperatures ranged from 10 to 40 degrees below zero. A gale carried the cold wave southward in the midst of a blinding blizzard. It was 18 degrees below at Duluth, Minn., while at St. Cloud the snow was so heavy that a 70 year old man was killed when a snow play tore into the automobile in which he was riding through the storm. His 23-year old son, driver of the car, was injured critically.

It was eight degrees below at St. Paul, Minn., where weather bureau warnings predicted 15 below before morning. Similar sub-zero temperatures prevailed in North and South Dakota, Wyoming and upper Michigan.

Highways Cleared
More than 1000 employees of the Minnesota state highway department worked continuously in an attempt to keep heavy snows from drifting and closing roads completely.

Further south, along the line extending from Kansas City to Chicago, the wintry blast had not yet struck its full fury, but thermometers already were skidding rapidly.

It was 13 above in Chicago with predictions of zero by morning. A light snow blanketed the Kansas City area where a 10 above zero reading was expected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—UP—A decided improvement in the condition of William Howard Taft was reported today by his physician.

A bulletin issued through the White House said the former chief justice had improved to such a degree that he was able to sit up in bed and sign an "important paper."

The "important paper," it was learned, was a letter to Taft's former associates on the supreme court acknowledging their expressions of regret at his illness and resignation.

NEW PACT AT NAVY MEET SEEN

conflict when peace was disturbed in any ocean. There was opposition even to a direct mention of the Mediterranean.

At any rate, the Americans were moving cautiously. They had no intention of rushing into an even "talk pact" unless it appeared acceptable to the United States Senate. They would prefer that France would discard the whole issue, and some believed this would be done.

The fourth week of the naval conference ended today with "elastic" figures submitted by all delegations except the Italian. Italy still demanding the right to build to parity with France, was expected to "sit tight" while Britain and the United States tried to prune down the French figures.

Delegates Res
For the third day in a row the Americans and British conferred with the French in an attempt to take some of the supposed rubber out of the latter's demands. For more than two hours the French memorandum was discussed.

Most of the delegates left tonight for the week-end. Senator Robinson and Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams will be at Stannmore with Secretary Stimson, who will entertain the Dominions delegates Sunday. The leading French delegates left for Paris to discuss the French position.

GERMANS WRATHFUL ON FRENCH STAND
BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(U.P.)—German wrath was aroused today because France injected the "pocket battleship" issue into the fire-power naval conference at London.

The French memorandum of yesterday said, in effect, that whether or not a capital ship holiday was agreed upon, France would reserve the right to build up to 70,000 tons of new battleships to meet latest developments in warship construction.

Since the Ersatz Preussen, a 10,000-ton armored cruiser, now half completed by Germany, is acknowledged as the most modern and efficient of fighting craft, the inference drawn there was that France was using this "pocket battleship" as an excuse to extend her own building program.

The Versailles treaty permits Germany to build six 10,000-tonners of the Ersatz Preussen type, but no larger vessels. The German cabinet yesterday decided for reasons of economy to make no appropriation in the 1930 budget for starting construction of the second ship of that class. Stringent finances probably will prevent completion of the six big cruisers before 1940 or 1945, a naval spokesman told the United Press.

Meantime, the spokesman said, France is reserving the right to build, in the next six years, say, four 15,000-ton "pocket battleships" more effective even than the Ersatz Preussen.

Officials of the German foreign office and ministry of defense answered a flood of newspaper queries on the subject today. The nationalist organ, Boersen Zeitung called the French suggestion a "poisoned bullet."

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

NEW TRACT TO OPEN SUNDAY

Opening of the Community Builders, Inc. home sites between Ohio and Cutting boulevard will take place Sunday. The tract, which occupies a fine elevated location with a view of the harbor, is well paved and drained and is to be improved with many attractive and comfortable homes.

The tract is being opened and building plans laid early enough to take care of hundreds of new families who will come to Richmond to live as a result of the present industrial growth.

Rotary Plans For Conference

Arrangements for the annual conference of the second district of Rotary International were discussed at a meeting of the Richmond Rotary club yesterday in the Hotel Carquinez. The conference will be held in Oakland this spring and Thomas Edgess, past district governor urged the local members to take part in the deliberations.

J. F. Galvin gave a talk on his recent trip through Mexico. C. G. Kratzer was chairman of the day and Seward Merry was received back into the club with the classification of home builder.
